

Reduce TCO and attain faster time to market with Quinnox's Flexcube Testing services

When banks embark upon upgrading their core banking platform to Flexcube suite of products, they are faced with a mammoth task of verifying and validating the product against the business processes followed by the organization. This key activity of the product implementation phase often presents challenges like

- Minimizing the test cycle duration as time-to-market is one of the key factors for buying an off-the-shelf product
- Lack of documentation for existing end-to-end processes
- Overall business process broken up in multiple departments and lack of single ownership for the process to complete testing
- Ensuring that there is almost 100% coverage to all the business scenarios
- Testing of Flexcube with peripheral systems.

Quinnox Flexcube Testing Services

Quinnox offers end-to-end testing services for your Flexcube product implementation. A mature testing process methodology ensures maximum quality of deliverables while reducing risk associated with outsourcing. Over a period of time Quinnox has created assets for Flexcube testing services which truly reduce cost of ownership & time to market for its customers. These assets include

- Reusable Testware repository with over 13000 test cases for routine instances of Flexcube Retail (FCR), Flexcube Corporate (FCC) and Internet Front End (IFE)
- A strong team of "Flexcube Product Specialists" who have Retail/Commercial banking experience and thorough understanding of Flexcube
- A comprehensive Flexcube Training Program for induction of new members
- Automated Scripts for select modules.

Our Testing Coverage

Our Flexcube Testing Services cover:

- Core product testing along with customer specific enhancements
- Incoming/outgoing interfaces from/to peripheral applications
- Canned reports and customized reports
- Migration testing.

We support all phases of product Rollout including SIT, UAT, OAT, Regression Testing, Performance Testing & Penetration Testing.

Advantage Quinnox

Quinnox's customer-centric approach is focused on understanding the customer's business and requirements. Each phase of the engagement is built on high levels of security and reliability. We have domain experience and superior competency in banking-specific products like Calypso, Flexcube and Kondor+ that makes us the preferred IT partner for Banking and Financial Institutions the world over.